

Standing Grant of Permission to Translate

Jesus Is Fully Human and Fully God · and the accompanying papers on the neo-trichotomy model

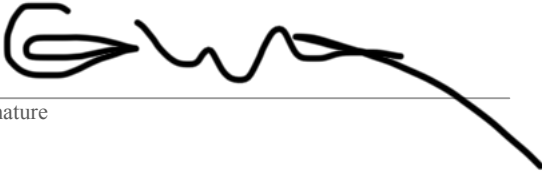

The work named above is published under a Creative Commons Attribution-NoDerivatives 4.0 International License (CC BY-ND 4.0). Because a translation is a derivative work, and derivative works are otherwise barred by that license, the author grants the following separate and additional permission.

The author grants any person or organization permission to translate this work, in whole, into any language, subject to the conditions below. No fee is charged and none will be. The author receives no income from this work and does not intend to.

1. The translation is complete and faithful. No section, panel or step is omitted, reordered, or added to in a way that changes the argument. Where a passage cannot be carried directly into the target language and must be rebuilt to preserve its sense, the rebuilding should preserve the function the original passage performed.
2. The translator is credited, and the author is credited as author of the original work.
3. The translation carries this same license and this same grant, so that it remains as freely available as the original.
4. No portion is presented as endorsing any political position, party, movement, government or campaign. This work makes no political claim and must not be published, excerpted or packaged in a form that implies one.
5. The author is notified, and offered the opportunity to have the translation reviewed. Review is requested, not required, and this permission does not depend on its outcome.

Permission for a particular translation may be withdrawn by the author if that translation is found to violate condition 1 or condition 4. Withdrawal applies to that translation alone. It does not affect the license on the original work, and it does not affect any other translation made under this grant.

This grant is made freely, in the hope that the work will be useful. It is offered as an act of love and mercy, not as a commercial undertaking.
